

■ Normal

`Normal[expr]` converts expr to a normal expression, from a variety of special forms.

`Normal[expr]` converts a power series to a normal expression by truncating higher-order terms. ■ When additional “data types” are introduced, `Normal` should be defined to convert them, when possible, to normal expressions. ■ See page 434.